Mayu

Mauro Olivier founded the Viña Mayu winery in 2005 in the Elqui Valley in northern Chile. The wines are named after the ancient Inca name for the Milky Way, which literally means "river of stars". The crystal-clear sky of the Elqui Valley makes the stars appear exceptionally bright. The region's diverse soils allow unique wines to be made. Mauro Olivier was one of the pioneers who planted vines for premium wine production and sourced grapes from the valley's different terroirs.
